

Lockdown Learning by Hollie Waring, Beauty Therapy Level 2 student

At first I thought lockdown learning would be difficult, as I'm studying a practical subject.

I made sure I brought my kit home from college and I already had a wax pot and beauty couch. I've been keeping up my practical skills and treatments at home on myself and family members. I then send the images and video clips to my tutor as evidence.

My tutor has been amazing by setting fun lessons for us online and getting us all creative by doing lots of different make-up and nail themes. We have also completed some industry recognised courses that have been held online and gained certificates to update of CVs. I'm really looking forward to starting back on the Level 3 Beauty and Spa course in September.
