

Dear student

I am writing this letter to explain the experience of what it is like in the animal care team, and also what you will be doing on this fantastic course.

First of all you will get to meet new friends and get to know everyone. During this induction time you will get your lesson timetable.

The things you will be learning on the course is all about animals and what you have to do to care for them. For example you'll learn how to groom them and clean them out - this is when you have the opportunity to go to a farm.

When you're in college you will be learning about animal habitats, appropriate animal restraint, wildlife, identifying animals, naming animals' body parts. You will also get to watch Steve Backshall online, who is a brilliant wildlife expert.

After each topic you will be assessed and that will all add up to if you pass or not.

Good luck.
